

Public Will Get View Of Alternate School Budgets Before Election

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Against the wishes of their chairman, the School Committee has decided to describe for voters what the school department might look like if the Proposition 2½ referendum question is defeated later this month.

Parents Tuesday night urged the schoolmen to give voters more information about what might be cut from the schools' operating budget — currently under $14.5 million, mid-way through the committee's second pass — if it has to be reduced to $12.9 million.

On a four-one vote, with only Chairman Joseph Finn opposed, the schoolmen instructed Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert to present the administration's version of a possible $12.9 million budget on Tuesday, March 16, less than a week before the March 22 election.

Finn said he would prefer delaying discussion of a "devastation" budget until after the election, and let the superintendent make his presentation on March 23 — if the referendum is defeated.

The chairman explained that before the election, he would like to "emphasize the positive, and de-emphasize the negative," persuading voters to approve the referendum by telling them "what a good deal the present version of the Andover school system is."

He maintained that the school committee would not have enough time to adequately review the administration's recommendations, leaving the public with an inaccurate view of what a $12.9 million school system would really include.

And he added that discussion of up to $1.5 million in cuts at this point would only "pit parents against one another", and prompt accusations that the committee was using "scare tactics," predicting cuts that would never happen.

Instead, Finn offered a general idea of what a reduced budget might mean: larger class sizes, the possible elimination of the traditional and developmental primary programs, the loss of some or all sports programs.

But at the end of Tuesday's meeting, several parents argued for more than an hour that unless voters learn more about what would happen to the schools on a $12.9 million budget, they will vote the referendum down.

James Flaherty of Jefferson Lane said PTOs are having trouble explaining what the referendum means without specific information. "It's very difficult not to have a guideline," he said.

Landmark Decision Finds Town Properly Assessed Country Club

By Sue Aucella Deacon

In a "landmark decision" for Andover, a prominent local businessman has lost his appeal of the town's assessment of his home and the Indian Ridge Country Club. The appeal covered the past four years, and had the town lost, Andover would have lost more than $100,000 in property taxes.

Assessor William Russell said this week that the appeal, filed with the state Appellate Tax Board in late 1977, was the largest one the town has fought in the last 20 years. He described it as a "landmark decision" because of the large amount of tax revenue that was at stake.

Telemachus A. and Irene Demoulas appealed the taxes assessed on their home on Haggetts Pond Road and on the Indian Ridge Country Club, which Demoulas' DSM Realty, Inc. purchased at auction from the Arlington Trust Company. Demoulas owns a chain of supermarkets based in the Merrimack Valley.

The Demoulas home, built in 1972 on a 52.18-acre site, is the only "estate-type" home built in the town since the early 1900s," Russell said. "The only property you could compare it with was 70 years old or older — and that was one reason they

(the Demoulases) felt it was over-assessed."

In fiscal 1978, the home was assessed at $149,500, the land at $74,300, and a swimming pool at $2,900, for a total assessment of $226,700.

The property was originally assessed at $254,700, Russell added, but when the owner protested in 1974 and 1975, that assessment was abated by $28,000. Demoulas "wasn't really happy" about that abatement, but did not file another appeal until two years later.

Tax bills on the house were $13,148 in fiscal '78; $14,055 in fiscal '79; $14,508 in fiscal '80; and $14,962 in fiscal '81.

Maintaining that the home was over-assessed, the Demoulases argued that taxes on their home should not exceed $10,000, according to Russell, even as the town's tax rate rose.

With more than 150 acres, the Indian Ridge Country Club was assessed at $771,000. That included a golf course and a clubhouse assessed at $223,000. Total taxes on the property ranged from $44,718 in fiscal 1978 to $50,886 in fiscal 1981.

With the country club, the Demoulases maintained that since DSM Realty paid a little over $1 million for it, and taxes were being assessed on a 40 percent ratio at the time, taxes on the club should not exceed $40,000.

But the town argued that a price paid at an auction "is not to be considered the fair market value," Russell said, explaining that the club would have sold for a higher

Arlington Joins Waste District

Arlington has joined the North East Solid Waste Committee (NESWC), a consortium of 22 other communities planning a $74 million, 1,500 tons per day (tpd) trash-to-energy project bound for North Andover.

Arlington's decision brings the total tons of municipal trash under contract to 693 tpd and means several communities must scramble to take advantage of the remaining 207 tpd set aside for cities and towns, according to John K. Shortsleeve, director of the State Bureau of Solid Waste Disposal (BSWD).

Shortsleeve noted NESWC communities previously voted to set aside up to 600 tpd for commercial haulers on a first-come, first-served basis.

Arlington Town Manager Donald R. Marquis said he justified the NESWC project to selectmen because it represents the only real alternative to solve his town's trash disposal needs for the rest of the century.

Marquis said Arlington was active in another resource recovery project planned by predominately Route 128 corridor communities, but opted for NESWC for a number of reasons.

"We explored all the options but the NESWC project is more than a promise, it's right here, right now and an opportunity Arlington could not afford to miss," Marquis said. "I feel very happy and comfortable with my decision."

Marquis said revenue sharing provisions in the NESWC contract are more "superior" than other proposals, adding the consortium's transportation cost sharing arrangement means Arlington will receive rebates to further control tipping fees.

He said the timing of the NESWC opportunity was "perfect" because Arlington's landfill will be exhausted in five or six years.

Gov. Edward J. King this week offered the Commonwealth's support to the NESWC project, saying the endeavor makes sense for the environment and the economy. "The project means more than 20 communities will no longer have to rely on landfilling trash. Instead, municipal refuse will be put to good use producing an alternative source of energy that will save more than 400,000 barrels of imported oil per year," he commented.

Secretary of Environmental Affairs John A. Bewick praised the NESWC effort. "The North East group has worked long and hard to bring this project to the point of fruition."

ZBA Approval Needed For Video Games

Papa Gino's request for an automatic amusement device license may have set off the town's first efforts to control the spread of "Space Invaders" and its cousins in Andover.

The Community Development and Planning director has said he believes Papa Gino needs a zoning variance from the Zoning Board of Appeals before it can add a video game to its Shawsheen Plaza restaurant. According to the town manager, director Jonathan Gilmore believes the machine would "change the nature of the establishment."

In the past the selectmen have granted automatic amusement devices licenses fairly routinely. But they asked the town manager to find out more about the latest request because they thought the restaurant was too small for a video game.

Selectman Susan Poore Monday night wondered about singling out Papa Gino's for a ZBA appearance when about 15 other establishments have already been granted licenses. But Manager Kenneth R. Mahony said each case would be reviewed when licenses came up for renewal.

The selectmen decided to wait for an opinion from the Planning Board's special counsel before requiring Papa Gino's to go to the ZBA.

But Chairman Norma Gammon said the town should get busy preparing a zoning bylaw to cover video games, before the town finds itself presented with a request for an arcade. Gammon noted that surrounding communities have already run into problems with arcades.

New Hope For Route 93 Interchange

Hope springs eternal for a Route 93-Lowell Junction interchange.

After a meeting in Boston last week with Governor Edward King, Representative Gerald Cohen, the undersecretary of transportation and state Public Works representatives, Andover, Wilmington and Tewksbury selectmen believe there may finally be a chance for the 25-year-old plan.

The state DPW officials were negative about the prospects of state funding for a full Lowell Junction interchange. Selectman Edward Harris reported Monday night, until the pro-industry governor arrived at the meeting. Selectmen from the three towns impressed King with their documentation of the problems they say local industries face without the interchange.

"When the governor walked into the room and we started discussing industry, the tune was changed," Chairman Norma Gammon added. "Maybe someone's in there finally listening to us."

The chairman joked that for Harris' efforts to promote the interchange, it should be dubbed the "Edward Harris Interchange" when it is finally built.

But Selectman Donn Byrne remained skeptical: "Let's not order the plaque right now," he said.

Seeking CARD Designation For Downtown

Now that Shawsheen Village has been declared a state Commercial Area Revitalization District (CARD), town officials have submitted an application to have another Andover area become a CARD district — the downtown area.

Finance and Budget Director Anthony Torrisi, sitting in for the town manager during part of Monday night's selectmen's meeting, said a public hearing on the downtown CARD proposal will be held Tuesday, March 23, during the selectmen's first post-election meeting.

tion meeting.

During the hearing the boundaries of the proposed CARD district will be described, and plans for the area will be presented, Torrisi said.

Small businesses located within a CARD district are eligible for revenue financing at low interest rates, encouraging them to improve their property. Renovations are currently planned for several properties in Shawsheen.

Town officials have indicated that they will eventually submit Ballardvale as Andover's final CARD district.

Solar Slide Show To Be Presented

Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association is sponsoring a slide show on solar architecture in New England on Wednesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Room L4 of the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School, River Road, Andover.

Stephanie Gibson, the speaker, is a vice president with Cambridge Corporation of Cambridge. She is an architect with years of experience in the solar energy field. Her major contribution has been the development of the Passive Solar Products Directory which provides technical and general information on most products utilized in passive solar building design and construction.

Part of Gibson's presentation will relate the use of today's solar products with past and present building design. The talk is free and open to the public. For further information, call Julia Morse or Fred Snell.

Written by Michael Cristopher and directed by Bradford senior Colin McCarty, "Shadow Box" opened on Broadway in 1977, and was recently adapted into a movie version for television.

The play deals with three families struggling to rationalize the importance of their lives

Arrests Solve Several Breaks

Arrest of two young men, following extensive investigation by Andover police cleared a number of housebreaks which took place in February.

Patrolman Joseph Hastings reported that the investigation was initiated when police spotted some youths with a stereo receiver and upon questioning learned it had been obtained from a Marland street resident. Joined by Patrolman John Bernhardt and

David Grant, Hastings went to the Marland street residence and were refused admittance. Obtaining a warrant, the officers returned and found a number of stolen items in the residence, leading to charges of breaking and entering and larceny against Roger Pinkham, Jr., 24, 12 Marland St.

Additional questioning of Pinkham in-involved him in additional breaks, according to Hastings.

As part of that investigation, police arrested Beent Finnagan, 18, 3 Elm St., Andover, on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

Both men face hearings in Lawrence District Court on the charges.

Hastings said that the arrests resolved five breaks in Andover homes during the month of February in which property valued at thousands of dollars had been stolen. Some of the property was recovered, but some had already been disposed of.

Hastings said that in one instance recovery of some items of sentimental value to an Andover homeowner was beyond a price tag to the owner.

Major Gift Boosts Hospital Fund Campaign

The Bon Secours Hospital capital campaign, "Expansion '83: New Dimensions in Kindly Care," recently received a $215,000 contribution from the Josephine G. Russell Trust.

This major gift brings the hospital closer to its campaign goal of $2 million, and greatly bolsters the current fund-raising activities which have thus far generated an estimated $925,000 for the hospital's new building program.

Josephine G. Russell Trust Trustees

Archer L. Bolton, president, Bolton-Emerison, Inc., of Lawrence; Roger N. Bower, retired banker, of Andover; and Atty. Clifford E. Elias, of Lawrence, presented the gift to capital campaign Honorary Co-chairman Irving E. Rogers, co-publisher of the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune. They noted that Trust's desire to aid the hospital's efforts to meet the community's pressing need for more hospital beds.

Established in 1034, the Josephine G. Russell Trust annually donates monies to programs and institutions in Greater

Lawrence, including hospitals and other community funds. Over the years, the Trust has provided financial support for numerous Bon Secours Hospital projects including the purchase of a pulmonary function laboratory, and the renovation of the hospital's Outpatient Clinic.

According to Bon Secours Hospital Director of Development Kenneth D. Chisholm, "These donations have made a marked difference in our continued ability to provide progressive, top quality health and medical care to Greater Lawrence and southern New Hampshire residents, particularly the indigent and the disadvantaged."

The money raised during Expansion '83 will provide funding for a two-story annex to the west wing of the hospital, making possible the addition of 34 medical/surgical and 25 acute psychiatric beds.

Construction of the annex began in October 1981 and is expected to be completed in December 1982. The capital campaign is now in its fourth month of fundraising activities and will conclude with a major appeal to the general public in early spring.

Health Fair At Hospital

Health Works, a free health fair offering screenings for anyone over 18, will be held Tuesday, March 16, from noon to 8 p.m. at Lawrence General Hospital (LGH), Lawrence.

The free screenings will include height and weight, blood pressure, anemia testing, vision testing and carbon monoxide testing. Free colo-rectal cancer screening kits and a wide variety of educational materials will be available.

A full blood chemistry test will be available for $7. This test will include cholesterol, triglycerides, glucose, uric acid and for kidney, liver and heart function. Fasting for six to 12 hours before the test is necessary for accuracy. Results will be mailed to the home.

Rounding out the activities will be a fitness demonstration.

Screening information will be reviewed individually with nurse counselors who may point out potential areas to be reviewed by a physician and follow up with phone calls to encourage health promotion.

Booths will be staffed by people from LGH, the Greater Lawrence YWCA, Northeastern University's paramedic program, American Cancer Society, Merrimack College Medical Technology Program and Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence.

Training Program Offered

The Andover Department of Community Services, through a Recreational Network of Services for persons with developmental disabilities and Boston University, is offering a series of free social skills training sessions to anyone interested in working with individuals who are developmentally disabled.

Three social skills training sessions will be offered; the first on Wednesday, March 24, at Boston University. Those who participate in the training sessions will then be incorporated into some aspect of the Community Services Special Needs Program. No prior experience is necessary.

Haydn Program At Academy

Choruses from Harvard, Phillips Exeter and Concord Academy will join with Phillips Academy students for a performance of Haydn's "Paukenmesse" on Sunday, March 7, at 3 p.m. in Cochran Chapel on the Andover campus. Jameson Marvin, conductor of Harvard's Collegium Musicum, will conduct the combined chorus and orchestra. Dr. Santo Cataudella of Andover will be the bass soloist.

Franz Josef Haydn's "Paukenmesse" or "Drum Mass" is so named because of the prominence given to the kettledrum. It is also known as the "Mass in Time of War," since it was composed during Napoleon's invasion of Vienna. The final Dona Nobis Pacem is an especially heartfelt plea for peace.

Harvard's Collegium Musicum will also present shorter works by English Renaissance composers, William Byrd, Thomas Weelkes, Orlando Gibbons and Thomas Tomkins and by 20th century composers, Samuel Barber, Paul Hindemith and Harvard composer and conductor, James Yanatos.

The public is invited to this special choral event. There is no admission charge.

Hat Exhibit To Open

By Virginia Lopez Begg

An exciting new exhibit will open March 7 at the Andover Historical Society. Entitled "Hats on Parade," the exhibit will showcase a wide selection of hats from the society's costume collection. Men's, women's and children's hats from the period 1820-1920 will be on display, as well as photographs of earlier residents of Andover wearing similar styles.

Most people remember a time when spring meant an Easter bonnet and summer was official when men switched from their winter felt headgear to jaunty summer straws. Our ancestors, however, wore a much wider variety of hats and, as the exhibit illustrates, hats were an integral part of their everyday costume. Hats were an unerring indicator of age, economic position and social station.

The hats in the society's exhibit represent many moments in American history familiar to all. No one can view the stovepipe hat without thinking of Abraham Lincoln with whom that style is so closely identified. Beaver hats are shown and it is this style, widespread throughout the United States and Europe for many years, which made beaver pelts a valuable article of commerce, created the storied lifestyle of the "coureurs des bois," and established great American fortunes like that of the Astors.

The women's hats evoke memories of engravings in "Godey's Ladies" Book or "Little Women." Leghorn straws, bonnets of velvet, trims of feathers, beads and even birds show the parade of fashion as it moved through the 19th century. Hats for special purposes, such as brides' hats, mourning hats and automobile hats illustrate ways of life now vanished.

"Hats on Parade" has been researched and will be presented by the Exhibits Committee, whose chairperson is Joan Rollenhagen. A Creative Mind Is Rewarded

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Remember "The Millionaire," a popular television series of the early sixties?

Each week the mysterious James Baresfood Tipton bestowed a million dollars on some flabbergasted commoner, and then sat back to watch how the unsuspecting soul coped with sudden wealth.

During the past few months, the country's third-largest foundation, worth upwards of $1 billion, has been playing its own version of "The Millionaire," albeit on a smaller scale and with grander motives. And, one of its lucky beneficiaries is former Andover resident David Pingree, Ph.D., now of Providence, R.I.

A History of Mathematics professor at Brown University, Pingree is one of 41 writers, artists and scientists from varied fields who have received grants from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. (John MacArthur, who died in 1978, built his fortune on real estate and insurance.) The foundation has awarded him $45,600 for the first year, to amount to $236,000 over the next five years.

Tax-free and sent in monthly installments, the grant has been awarded with no strings attached. Pingree, like the other prize fellows, is free to spend it in any way he chooses. The idea behind the generous program: to free the country's creative minds from financial cares so that they may create.

Pingree was among the second group of 19 prize fellows, named last November. (The first group of 21 was selected last May.) He is in the company of such distinguished figures as poet/novelist Robert Penn Warren, architecture critic Ada Louise Huxtable, writer Richard P. Critchfield, and child psychologist Robert Coles.

The awards range up to $60,000 per year, based on the fellow's age (with the larger grants going to the older award winners). At least 100 more recipients are to be named in the future.

Blessed with this unexpected largesse, many of the MacArthur fellows have been buying cars and houses, investing, and doing a lot of traveling.

But Pingree, 49, hasn't changed his life dramatically: He's just been buying more books.

During a recent telephone interview from his university office, the soft-spoken Dr. Pingree said he has no idea who nominated him for the fellowship. "That is a very well-kept secret."

Why was he one of the chosen few?

"I hope it was because somebody thought that what I was doing was pretty interesting."

Pingree, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel

David Pingree

Pingree of Cheever Circle, teaches the history of mathematics at Brown. But what most interests him, he said, is Indian astronomy, and translating ancient texts from Sanskrit. He plans to take advantage of his award money by traveling to India, where he will obtain copies of Sanskrit manuscripts and begin working on translations.

Those are his only plans to date, and he will not make that trip for another year or so. He has not rushed to spend his fellowship on new toys like a car ("I don't drive"), but on second thought, he admitted that he has been "buying a lot of books."

Dr. Pingree was educated in Andover schools, and graduated from Phillips Academy. He is a Harvard graduate, and earned his doctorate at the University of Chicago. He lives in Providence with his wife, Isabelle, and their daughter Amanda, 16.

He was "extremely surprised" to be named a MacArthur fellow, Pingree says, adding that he is "grateful to them. This is a good way to encourage people — especially those in areas that don't usually get public recognition."

James Baresfood Tipton would be proud.

Assumes Command Of Bombardment Wing

Col. William J. Grove, Jr.

During a recent Change of Command Ceremony, Col. William J. Grove, Jr. assumed command of the 93rd Bombardment Wing. He replaced Col. Leo W. Smith II, who has been re-assigned as commander of the 57th Air Division, Minot Air Force Base, N.D., with the rank of brigadier general.

As commander of the 93rd Bomb Wing, Col. Grove has the responsibility of developing and maintaining a combat ready force capable of conducting long-range bombardment operations as directed by the Strategic Air Command (SAC). The unit's mission also includes training all B-52 Stratofortress G and H model and KC-135 Stratotanker combat crews for SAC.

Col. Grove was born Feb. 28, 1937, in Frederick, Md. Upon graduation from Colgate University, he received his Air Force Commission as a distinguished graduate of the Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC).

Col. Grove entered pilot training in July 1958 and received his wings at Craig Air Force Base, Ala. He subsequently trained in the F-86L at Moody Air Force Base, Ga. His first operational assignment was with the 5th Bomb Wing at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., flying B-52G aircraft. He also flew B-52s as a member of the 72nd Bomb Wing, Ramey Air Force Base, Puerto Rico, where he served from 1962 to 1965.

On his return to the United States, he was stationed in New York City as a AFROTC instructor at Fordham University. In August 1967, Col. Grove was sent to Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Ariz., to train in the F-4C Phantom. He was subsequently assigned to the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing, D Nang Air Base, Vietnam, and flew more than 200 missions as a fighter pilot.

His next assignment was to the 5th Bomb Wing at Minot Air Force Base, N.D., flying the B-52H as an aircraft commander, instructor pilot and standardization evaluator. During 1971-72, he attended the Air Command and Staff College (ACSC) at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. Following ACSC, Col. Grove was assigned to the Air Force Inspection and Safety Center, Norton Air Force Base, Calif., where he served as an operations inspector and later as chief,

Yen-Long Kuo of 7 Pioneer Circle, Andover, has been elected a Fellow by the board of directors of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. This honor is reserved to a very limited number of individuals each year who have shown evidence of outstanding and extraordinary qualifications and experience in the field of electrical and electronics engineering. Win Regional Drama Competition

Susan George

Ingrid DuMosch

Andrew Roehr

Michael Epstein

Last Saturday, the Andover High School Drama Guild won in its regional one-act play competition at Danvers. This was one of 12 regional festivals held throughout the state with winners meeting in semi-finals competition on Saturday, March 13.

Some 70 actors and actresses took part, 15 of which were selected for the all-star cast. Many towns placed none or only one of their participants on the all-star cast. Andover, however, with a cast of four, placed all four on the regional all-star cast: Andrew Roehr, president of the Drama Guild; Ingrid DuMosch, vice president of the guild; Susan George and Michael Epstein. Andover performed the fast moving comedy, "The Mice Have been Drinking Again," directed by Robert King.

Judges for the competition were Prof. Sherwood Collins who holds the chair in the drama department at Tufts University; Noreen Barns Lenz, a doctoral candidate in drama at Tufts; and Mickey Coburn Beaman, a graduate of the Stratford-on-Avon Institute in England and currently director of the Acting Place in Beverly and a staff member at the Pingree School.

The public is invited to attend the semi-final festival, in which Andover will participate, at the Veterans Memorial High School in Peabody on Saturday, March 13. Andover will have the first stage at 9 a.m. Five other schools will perform and winners at the six semi-final sites will be entered in the state finals held in Boston later in March.

Schools Registering Next Week

Andover schools will register new students for kindergarten and first grade the week of March 8. Registration forms and information can be picked up at the school between March 8 and 12. Parents requesting the Traditional Alternative Program should register at West Elementary School.

Screening and orientation programs will be held in April and May.

Children must be five years old by Sept. 1 to register for kindergarten. If the child attended a private kindergarten this year but will attend Andover schools in the fall, the child should register at this time.

East Junior High Happenings

By Jennifer Tucker and Tracy Lasch

This week, winter carnival week, has been a fun-filled and exciting one. The festivities started on Monday with a movie on skiing for the whole school. Everybody seemed to enjoy watching the expert skiers doing ballet, slalom racing, giant slalom racing and downhill racing. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursdays were days set aside for winter carnival events. Students from each grade took part in such outdoor activities as the snowball-target-toss, toboggan races, snow sculpture contest, tug-of-war and snowshoe races. Indoors there were foul-shooting contests, table tennis matches and floor hockey games.

Many thanks to Phillips Academy for donating 2½ hours of ice time at their skating from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Tomorrow night all students of East and their parents are invited to skate at the Phillips Academy skating rink. Again, thank you, Phillips Academy, for giving us such a spectacular day to end our winter carnival week.

Tomorrow will be the final assembly for all grades where awards supplied by the Andover Merchants Association will be given to students who win the above mentioned events and those nominated for commendation.

Wednesday afternoon the Jump-A-Thon for the Heart Association began. After three hours of jumping, participants set out to collect from their sponsors. We are hoping to raise as much money as possible to help this fine organization.

The Student Council has many activities planned for the near future. On March 12 two 3-D movies will be shown in the auditorium from 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The school play, "Lindy," was performed before a full house last Friday and Saturday night. Congratulations to all the cast and chorus, and especially to Sheryl Galvin and Greg Hopwood, who had lead roles, and Tom Button who organized and produced the play.

With the basketball season behind us, we are very happy to say that both the boys and girls teams had outstanding seasons. Under the direction of Bob Hatem, the boys finished with a record of seven wins, five losses. Dan Carignan, Pat Pleahn, Tom Lutz and Dave Hughes finished out the season with fantastic games.

The girls' final record of seven wins and two losses put them in second place in the Merrimack Valley Girls League. Outstanding players for the season include Jennifer Kirkland, leading rebounder with more than 100 rebounds, and Lisa Marcella who averaged 10.5 points per game.

Guidance counselors, Norma Roberts and Ray Danielson, are working on a computer program to take place this spring. Students will voluntarily sign up for appointments with the guidance counselors and the computer. This specialized computer starts the students getting ready for making decisions concerning their careers.

To Offer Enrichment Program

An "Enrichment Camp" offering a variety of courses is planned by Kaleidoscope for Aug. 2-13 for children 4 to 12 years of age.

The camp will be held from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. daily at Andover High School in cooperation with the Department of Community Services.

Kaleidoscope, a non-profit enrichment program, offered a successful one-week program last summer. The program has been expanded to include both one-week and two-week courses, depending on the subject matter and age level.

The following two-week courses will be offered:

Chisanbop/Beyond Computation: students in grades 4-6 will spend half the morning learning the ancient Korean method of performing mathematical operations using one's fingers. The other half involves enrichment math—geometric designs, logic, puzzles and other challenges for those who truly enjoy math.

Newspaper: An opportunity to learn interviewing techniques, to improve critical and creative writing skills and to be involved in the exciting process of creating a Kaleidoscope newspaper. Some students in grades 3 to 6 will write articles for local newspapers.

Computer Camp: An opportunity for a very limited number of students in grades 5 and 6 to work with Apple microcomputers and learn basic computer literacy. They will apply their knowledge in games and other activities on the computers.

Art and Drama: Children in Grades K-1 will have an opportunity to enjoy theater games, skit preparation, puppet making, etc. and will engage in art and dramatic activities each day. Parents can share the exciting results.

Spotlight: Students in grades 2-4 will learn theater games, improvisations, mime, etc., exploring many aspects of the performing arts including costumes and makeup taught by a clown, a magician and a mime.

In some courses lasting for one week, August 2-6, children will spend over 12 hours involved in a specific topic. These include:

Math-A-Magic: An enrichment math for kindergarteners and first graders.

Music/Movement: Half-morning of music activities and half of motor skills and movement activities taught by music and physical education specialists for children 4 to 6 years of age.

Holistic Health for Kids: Creative approach to nutrition and good health through games, music, puppets—even some beginning yoga for grades K-1.

Creative I: Students in grades 2 to 4 will do creative writing and art activities, the aim being to make an illustrated individual book. Some calligraphy also presented.

One-week courses offered August 9-13 include:

Math-A-Magic for grades 1 and 2.

Holistic Health For Kids for ages 4 and 5.

Flights Into Fantasy: A chance for children who will enter kindergarten in the fall to use imagination and senses in games, stories, treasure hunts and crafts.

Adventures in Science: Exploring the mysteries of nature through field trips and hands-on activities for grades K-1.

Enrollment will be limited with most classes have from 10 to 15 students. Detailed brochures with course descriptions and information about all instructors will be available by the end of March. Registration will begin after April vacation with Andover residents given priority until May 11.

Anyone who took Kaleidoscope courses last summer or who purchased subscriptions to the Kaleidoscope series at Merrimack College will receive a brochure through the mail. Information will also be sent home through the schools by the Department of Community Services.

Questions may be addressed to Kaleidoscope, Box 506, Andover.

the game but the undaunted freshmen team kept the ball in motion with outstanding teamwork and passing ability. Tim Perry soon scored twice putting the students ahead. Throughout the first and second quarters the leading score teetered back and forth between the two teams. Perry, Bill Weidman, Dan Sheehan, Craig Hammond and Paul Lambers scored for the freshmen and Mr. Nichols, Mr. Flieschman and Mr. Sullivan scored for the faculty. Half-time score was 27-20 faculty.

The second half brought a much faster pace. Outstanding scorers were Perry, Hammond, Scott Wikins, Sheehan and Chris Comparato for the freshmen and Mr. Tishert, Mr. Maglio, Mr. Flieschman, Mr. Nichols and Mr. Sullivan for the faculty. Other courageous faculty members who participated were Mr. Darrin, Mr. White, Mr. Fawcett, Mr. Gangi, Mr. Schimmel and Mr. McCarthy. The faculty won 51-45.

Campaign For Funds Approved

At a special meeting held on Jan. 25, the board of trustees of Pingree School, South Hamilton, voted unanimously to approve a $450,000 campaign for endowment funds. In approving the fund drive, the trustees noted Pingree's impressive growth and development in its first 21 years and identified endowment at the school's greatest need. Income from endowed funds will be used to support faculty salaries, financial aid, the library and maintenance of buildings and grounds.

Leadership gifts to the Capital Campaign for endowment have passed the $340,000 mark. A special gifts category is in the planning stage with trustee, parent and alumni workers preparing to solicit in the early spring. General solicitation will continue through the spring.

Honorary chairman of the campaign is trustee Richard Harte, Jr. of Boston. Other trustees in key positions are Edward S. Rowland of Hamilton, general chairman; H. Alden Johnson of Marblehead, trustees and leadership chairman; Alice F. Blodgett of Swampscott in charge of special gifts. Vice chairmen of special gifts include trustees Nina Adams of Manchester and Alice Roberts Dietrich of Boston (a member of the class of 1968), and Pingree parents, Gail Barton and Carl Sloane of Marblehead and Richard Purinton of Byfield. Former trustee Susan Oliver of Marblehead, a member of the class of 1965, will head the solicitation of general gifts.

Merrimack Accredited

Merrimack College president, Rev. John E. Deegan, announced that Merrimack College has received notice that it has been reaccredited for a ten-year period by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

The ten-year accreditation period is the maximum number of years for which a college can be accredited before undergoing another evaluation.

Under the practice established by the association, a team of representatives from colleges and universities throughout New England thoroughly examined and evaluated the college's programs, faculty and staff.

"We're extremely pleased about the ten-year reaccreditation," remarked Fr. Deegan. He stated that the accreditation is "a healthy sign for Merrimack as it expresses a confidence in what we are doing and displays that Merrimack College is going in the right direction."

In a letter to Merrimack faculty, staff and administration, the new Merrimack president congratulated them for their part in the accreditation and noted that he was happy that it came at the beginning of his administration.

Budget

Even if voters accused the committee of using scare tactics, he added, "at least we'll know that the people knew the facts." Committeeman Richard Neal agreed: "I really think it would be in the best interests of the town to take a closer look at what a $12.9 million budget would look like, in this committee's view."

Seifert said he also favored discussing the lower budget before the election, in a change of heart from his earlier position. "The cost will be the climate and morale in the Andover school system," he warned. "Hostility emerges — the climate in the town will change. But we have to have it."

"The greater cost would be voting in the dark," Stephen Flashenburg of Launching Road commented — adding that if the referendum is passed, the school budget can still be decreased at town meeting. If the referendum is defeated, however, "there's no way town meeting can push it (the budget) up."

Finn said March 16 was too late to start discussing a $12.9 million budget, predicting that the meeting would dissolve into "chaos."

But Neal said the committee could simply consider it an informational meeting, not an open forum, and hear the administration's report without asking for comments from the audience. The committee could offer their thoughts on Seifert's proposals, he added.

The referendum question calls for exempting debt on the $13.72 million school building project from the limits of Proposition 2½, thus removing debt service on that project from the school operating budget.

Committee members pointed out that their budget-cutting to date means the referendum, if approved, would add $1.67 to the tax rate, not $2 as estimated earlier. "And that could be lower when we finish," Finn said.

Business Manager Francis Paul said that additional $1.67 on the tax rate would decrease each year, for six years, and would reach zero by the seventh year.

The committee reviewed eight accounts as they continued their second pass this week, and cut another $2,700 from the budget, bringing it below $14.5 million, from the $14.9 million originally recommended by the administration.

The committeemen cut $2,700 from the expense portion of the athletics account by eliminating swimming instruction for third- and fourth-graders with a four-one vote; Michael Giammusso was opposed.

Start A Hobby

A hobby that is enjoyable anywhere and of life-long potential is introduced through a course given by the Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science.

Supporting a motion made by Donald Robb, Finn called swimming instruction "a product of another era, and something we could get out of the budget."

Robb found no support, however, for his original motion to cut the entire swimming program, at a total of $12,200. Athletic Director Richard Swift explained that all but the $2,700 for third- and fourth-grade instruction was spent on instruction for special needs students, "an integral part of the adaptive physical education program."

Neal called that part of the swimming program "an essential service," because it keeps the special needs children within the Andover school system, thereby "saving the town money."

Swift indicated that he had cut an additional $2,634 from athletics since the committee's first pass by trimming the equipment budget, leaving the expense portion of the account at a total of $64,678, and the entire account at $194,293.

The transportation account escaped unharmed again, and was approved at $596,350 — enough to provide the same service as this year.

Committeeman John Eaton moved that the expense portion of that account be cut from $580,150 to $490,850 by limiting bus service to what the state requires. But only Robb agreed with him.

"If we're going to save money anywhere, it's going to be here," Eaton said. "We should face reality."

Finn argued for maintaining existing services as long as the budget allows. "The money is there now, and we had a very clear message delivered to us last year by parents — they want their children bused."

He warned, however, that bus service could well be cut if the referendum question is defeated: "This account is fair game for reduction."

Alberta Davis of Andover Street asked what the transportation coordinator does when bus routes are complete. Business Manager Francis Paul replied that the coordinator will spend more time inspecting buses for health and safety, as well as inspecting bus stops. And if the coordinator has spare time, he said he could use help in several areas in the business office.

The health services account was also left where it was after the first pass, at $141,310, although Robb questioned the need for a dental hygienist in the schools, and a number of parents agreed.

The administration said the hygienist spends most of her time teaching dental health — not cleaning teeth — and Finn called the position "an accepted part of the school system." The committee voted four-one to maintain the position, with Robb opposed.

Other accounts approved on the second pass Tuesday night: textbooks, at $92,733; library, at $53,500; audio visual, at $299,035; guidance, at $263,230; and evaluation at $116,587.

Still to be reviewed: student body, custodial services; heating oil; utilities; maintenance of grounds, equipment and buildings; fixed charges; equipment; and programs with other districts.

The next committee meetings are scheduled for March 9 and March 11 at West Elementary School, and with ten more accounts to go, Finn vowed to finish the budget review by March 11.

Conservation Commission Asks Hearing On Pole Hill Plan

Charging that a state order concerning wetlands protection at Pole Hill is "vague and ambiguous," the Andover Conservation Commission has requested a formal adjudicatory hearing to seek changes in that order.

The order was recently issued by the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE) under the Wetlands Protection Act, superseding an earlier order of conditions issued by the conservation commission.

Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp., developer of the proposed 69-home subdivision at Pole Hill, had appealed the ConComm's order of conditions to the DEQE.

No hearing date has been set, Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore said this week.

However, the DEQE has scheduled a pre-hearing conference for 10 a.m. Thursday, March 11 in Boston, he added, to "clarify the issues" and determine if a formal hearing is necessary.

Unless the DEQE offers some "clarification" of its order, the conservation commission believes it will be "unenforceable," according to the written request for a hearing.

The commission also objects to the state order because it refers to various plans from the developer that are "inconsistent," and because the measures required by the order "will not function satisfactorily" — that is, they will not provide enough protection for the wetlands along the Shawsheen price on the open market. It was auctioned by the trust company after the previous owners, Area Associates, Inc., defaulted on their mortgage.

The five-member board heard the appeal on the home on April 8, 1981, and on Indian Ridge on April 15, 1981. The decision on the home was handed down last September, while the decision on the country club was not handed down until Feb. 23 of this year.

Andover hired Atty. John M. Lynch of the Boston law firm Cuddy and Lynch, ("experts in this type of legal work," Russell said) to represent the town. Town Counsel Alfred Daniels was also involved.

Along with Russell, appraiser Bernard F. Magane of McGee and Magane and engineer Robert W. Smith of Peabody testified for the town on the Indian Ridge Case, while Russell and appraiser Dennis L. Shurtleff of McGee and Magane testified about the Demoulas home.

They testified that the town's assessment was "fair and equitable," Russell said, and several months later, the tax board agreed.

"The board (of assessors) is pleased with the decision," Russell said, "to find out that an impartial board would come up with the same answers that we've come up with, and that they think our assessments were fair and equitable."

Cardiac Drugs for the Medical/Surgical RN and LPN will be the three-hour continuing education seminar at Lawrence General Hospital (LGH), Lawrence, Wednesday, March 10, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

The seminar carries three contact hours from the Massachusetts Nurses Association and application has been made for LPN contact hours as well.

Flower Show To Open

"Gardens of the World," the theme for the forthcoming New England Spring Garden and Flower Show, ranks as one of the most ambitious in the 111-year history of the popular event.

Highly ambitious though it be, the international theme will be carried out in considerable detail and, therefore, must not be looked upon as a mere gimmick.

This is the general policy being stressed by Roger Dane, executive director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, which will run the 1982 Flower Show from Saturday, March 13, through Sunday, March 21, in Boston's Commonwealth Pier Exhibition Hall.

In keeping with this policy, more than 50 major exhibitors are preparing to translate the "Gardens of the World" theme in literal fashion. Among them are exhibitors who will display a wide variety of fresh cut flowers flown in daily from other parts of the world.

Lilies, tulips, gerbera, amaryllis and freesia from Holland; heliconia and protea from Africa; genesta from Italy; roses and miniature carnations from Israel; acacias from the French Riviera; orchids from Singapore, ginger and antherium from Hawaii and wax flowers, anemones, seafoam, acacias and sweet williams from California.

Two Boston florists, Jason Kelly, who operates a wholesale business in the Boston Flower Exchange, and Susan Bates, who manages a Charles Street shop, will exhibit an open-air flower market. Kelly will select and buy the flowers for their street scene setting, and Bates will do the decorating.

Florist William Marshall of Weymouth is preparing an exhibit which will showcase transported fresh flowers with background representing their native countries—the Eiffel Tower, Big Ben, a Chinese pagoda, a Dutch windmill, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, the Statue of Liberty. Florist Faith Cass of Watertown is creating an artistic fountain of international flowers.

Meanwhile, the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts is working on an exhibit titled "Around the World in Many Ways." Seventy-two different flower arrangements will be displayed within three entry periods in settings featuring symbolic designs of transportation modes—a space shuttle, a trans-Atlantic plane, luxury liner, double-decker bus, bullet train, desert camel.

How will all these special flowers get to the Flower Show? Generally, fresh flowers designated for this area are flown from their distant originations to New York City in huge crates winterized with foam insulation. They then are transferred to Boston in insulated trucks.

Plants with origins in far-off locales will be featured in other exhibits: African violets, begonias (Africa, Asia, Central and South Americas), gesneriads (the tropics), bromeliads (tropical and sub-tropical Americas), cinerarias (Canary Islands) and such products of Japanese descent as bonsai, cryptomeria, cercidiphyllum,

Reviewing Plans

Andover florist Jeffrey French (right) is chairman of the Florist Telegraph Delivery exhibit plans for the New England Spring Garden and Flower Show, which he discusses here with Roger Dane and Phyllis Anderson, executive director and president, respectively, of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. "Gardens of the World" is the theme for the 1982 Flower Show scheduled Saturday, March 13, through Sunday, March 21, at Boston's Commonwealth Pier Exhibition Hall. The FTD exhibit will be a reproduction of a 17th century Bavarian palace garden.

Watercolor Demonstration Scheduled

The Andovers Artists Guild, Inc. will feature a demonstration in watercolor by Rockport-Gloucester artist Bernard Gerstner on Sunday, March 14. Gerstner is a painter, teacher and demonstrator who has received many local and national awards. His paintings are included among many public and private collections throughout the country including Alaska and Hawaii. He has taught fine arts for the Eastman Kodak Co. During the summer he maintains a gallery at Rocky Neck Avenue, E. Gloucester, while his winter studio is located at 3 Norseman Ave., Gloucester, in an old New England church.

Those who attend Gerstner's workshops are brought "on location" where the feeling of weather, light and motion radiating from nature, help to inspire the student to capture the mood of the day. The artist's own paintings are a variety of scenic New York, New Hampshire, and Caribbean locations where he has held "travel" workshops.

Although the Andover demonstration will be of watercolor, the artist's talent for palette knife was also noted in a past issue of Grumbacher Co.'s "Palette Talk," the art supply manufacturer's magazine for artists, under the "Pro's Nets" column. His painting of a local Gloucester scene, "Surf at Bass Rocks," was chosen to be included in Grumbacher's national traveling exhibit.

Gerstner's talents can be observed on Sunday, March 14, at 2:30 p.m. downstairs at the Bay State National Bank, 84 Main St., Andover.

Lenten Program At St. Augustine's

The parishioners of St. Augustine's R.C. Church, Essex Street, Andover, are observing the 1982 Lenten Season.

The 40 days of Lent are traditionally a period of reflection and renewal in the Catholic Church as well as the Christian world. Under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Richard T. O'Leary, O.S.A., the staff of St. Augustine's planned the Lenten season around the theme of "The Lord Hears the Cry of the Poor," and will utilize the symbol of a Crucifix with the resurrected Christ throughout Lent. Parish families received a detailed calendar indicating all planned Lenten activities at the masses on the weekend preceding Ash Wednesday. A family sacrifice card was also distributed to the parishioners which, when completed, will be returned to the church on Holy Thursday, Good Friday or at the Easter Vigil to form the Easter Fire. Sunday themes will be blessed are the poor in spirit; who hunger for justice; who search for God's love; who seek the truth; who serve others; who accept the Cross.

Foremost of all the activities is the Parish Renewal scheduled to begin Sunday, March 21. Rev. Arthur B. Chapell, O.S.A., will visit St. Augustine's and conduct the renewal Monday, March 22, through Thursday, March 25. On Wednesday there will be a Parish Communal Penance Service and a Mass of Thanksgiving on Thursday, followed by a social in Good Counsel Hall.

The Genesis Youth Group of St. Augustine's have planned a series of "Poor Man's Suppers" at St. Augustine's School cafeteria on Chestnut Street at 5:30 p.m. every Friday evening during Lent. Members will prepare and serve the food and the proceeds will be donated for the cause of runaway teenagers.

The Christian Service Commission of St. Augustine's is sponsoring an American Red Cross Bloodmobile on Wednesday, March 10, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the school hall on Chestnut Street. Boston area's blood supplies traditionally drop around the time of holidays and St. Augustine's has been successful in recruiting donors at their Lenten bloodmobile.

Each year, in keeping with the spirit of helping others, St. Augustine's plans a Palm Sunday visit to a particular institution and this year parishioners will be asked to prepare a hot casserole to feed some of the visitors to Rosie's Soup Kitchen in Boston.

St. Augustine's recently completed arrangements and brought a Cambodian family to Andover. The Chaay family have a place to live and are clothed and fed through the outpouring of concern of St. Augustine's parishioners. During Lent, the family will continue to be a concern of the church and will receive additional assistance in the adjustment to their new home.

Three masses are offered daily at 6:30 a.m., 8 a.m. and 12:05 p.m. The Lenten Season will end with a Holy Thursday evening mass, Good Friday and the Easter Vigil Service at 8 p.m. on April 10.

"Good News in Changing Times" is the theme of the third annual lenten series sponsored by the West Parish Church, Andover. A welcome is extended to the community to participate Sunday evenings March 14, 21, 28 and April 4, from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Good news in poetry will be shared on March 14 by The Rev. Carol Ahlstrand, associate pastor of United Church of Christ in Wrentham. Rev. Ahlstrand is a talented artist, dramatist and poet whose theme will be "From Passion To Prayer." The Christian Education Committee will serve a salad bar supper.

Good news in preaching will be featured March 21 by Dr. William F. Hobbs, director of the United Church of Christ Conference Center in Craigville. Dr. Hobbs was formerly chaplain at Heidelberg College in Ohio and studied at St. Andrews University in Scotland. The Missions Council will serve a sandwich supper.

Good news through worship will be presented on March 28 by The Rev. Paul E. Shanabrook who will preach on "The Wealth of Liturgical Tradition of The United Church of Christ." The Diaconate will serve a chowder and assorted bread supper.

In conclusion, good news will be expressed through dance on April 4. The Omega Liturgical Dance Group with Carla DeSoto, resident group at St. John the Divine in New York City, will perform the Cain and Abel story at 7 p.m. at West Elementary School Auditorium. A potluck supper will be served at West Parish Fellowship Hall at 5:30 p.m.

In addition to the adult series, the "Importance of Bread" will provide children with an experience which will explore the religious dimensions of everyday life on March 14, 21, and 28. At the same time, young people will preview Godspell and Jesus Christ, Superstar to discover an understanding of the two productions' interpretation of the meaning of Jesus' life. Babysitting will be provided.

Living, Dying Series At Church

The Parish of Christ Church will present a Thursday evening Lenten Series entitled "Living, Dying and Death" at 8 p.m. beginning March 4.

"Living, Dying and Death" is a series of five seminars which will examine both secular and theological attitudes towards dying, especially as they have an impact on the quality of living. The seminars will review hospital visiting, the attitudes of children toward death and creative approaches to family preparation for funerals. The seminars are designed to include family participation and are appropriate for junior and senior high school students as well as other adults. Films and suggested reading material will be a part of the sessions.

The Rev. James A. Diamond, new rector, will conduct the series. Rev. Diamond did his clinical training at the Massachusetts

General Hospital in Boston and Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge while a student at the Harvard Divinity School and later continued his work with Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, then of Billings Hospital in Chicago. He has had extensive experience with dying patients and their families and especially with dying children. A lecturer at national

Former Mansion Burns

Twelve families were burned out of their homes last Friday when fire roared through the upper stories of the former Maple Avenue mansion. Once owned by the Remick family which operated a coal business in the community, the building at 37 Maple Ave. contained 12 apartments and was owned by Donald Richmond who estimated damage at in excess of $100,000. Andover Fire Fighter Frank Kolodgy was taken to Lawrence General Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation while fighting the fire which broke out shortly before noon. North Andover fire fighters were called to assist at the scene. Andover Deputy Fire Chief Harold Hayes said the cause was probably electrical.

$10.5 MillionSelectmen Support Manager's Budget

After completing their review of the annual town budget in record time this year, the selectmen have left the town manager's recommended $10.5 million town-side budget largely intact.

All that remains to be seen is whether the board will add some $25,000 to the Police Department budget for a new lieutenant. The police chief requested funding for the position, but Town Manager Kenneth R.

Mahony cut it.

Monday night, Selectman Chairman Norma Gammon said she would like to take another look at that request next week. The Finance Committee has approved the lieutenant's position, but has yet to put a price tag on it.

The selectmen, FinComm and manager are all in agreement about adding two firefighters to the Fire Department budget, at an annual salary of $17,000 each.

If all three public safety positions are added to the budget, the money will have to be cut from other areas, Finance and Budget Director Anthony Torrisi said Tuesday. "We will have to accommodate about $50,000," he said.

Since Mahony submitted his budget in mid-January, he has recommended cutting another $12,000 from the library budget, and $6,000 from the animal control budget. The library's new computerized circulation system will allow the library reduction, Torrisi said.

With the exception of the police lieutenant discussion, the selectmen wrapped up their budget review Monday night by approving the Community Services department request for $311,794, and the Council on Aging's request for $65,804.

DCS Director said that after increasing many user fees last year, the department expects to raise $125,000 in revenues this year, falling $25,000 short of its goal to raise $150,000 and become "50 percent self-supporting."

Selectman Gerald Silverman said he was "very pleased" with the $125,000 figure, saying he had thought the $150,000 target was unrealistic.

Council on Aging director Dorothy Winn said the council also plans to increase user fees this year. For example, she said the cost of meals delivered by "Meals on Wheels" will be raised to cover the cost of fuel for the Meals on Wheels Van.

The COA budget includes a step pay increase for Winn, from $17,439 to $18,380, bringing her salary "more in line" with those of other DCS employees in comparable positions, Torrisi said.

Among the other accounts approved by the selectmen during two previous meetings devoted to the budget: $1.5 million for the police department; $1.8 million for the fire department; $4 million for the Public Works department, including more than $500,000 for the sewer department, $962,000 for highways, and more than $1 million for water; $4.7 million for debt service; and $858,000 for the retirement fund.

Selectman To Seek School Board Post

Susan T. Poore, 85 Osgood St., who has served two terms as selectmen, announced her candidacy for election to the Andover School Committee.

She feels her experience as an elected official will be an asset on the School Committee as they must deal with complex issues which will continue to face them. She said some of these areas are: "Proposition 2½ and its effects, bonded indebtedness, maintaining appropriate teacher/pupil/administrator ratios, appropriate users' fees, the middle school concept, the continuance of alternative education, the analysis of the management needs of our school system, transportation requirements and the avoidance of duplication of effort and services within the system."

Mrs. Poore said she feels that the town must not lose sight of the fact that the two most important people in the schools are the teacher and the student. Keeping that always in mind, the answers to the issues to be considered will be found only in the School Committee's foresight and ability to plan wisely.

She said she feels strongly that the Andover taxpayer has historically supported education and that they will continue to do so. To assure that continued support, however, it is the joint responsibility of the elected and appointed officials to maximize the educational value of each and every tax dollar.

Mrs. Poore was born and raised in Andover and was educated in the Andover school system. She is the daughter of Dorothy Neil Treanor and the late Vincent Treanor. She is a graduate of Bradford Junior

Seeks School Term

Citing the need for a democratization of the school budgeting process, Donald Michelinie has announced his candidacy for School Committee. He has stated that the erosion of the ability to appropriate funds coupled with anticipated increases in school spending have made reductions in current programs inevitable. He has proposed a zero-base budget as an aid to make the reductions fair, sensible and controlled, and guided by priorities directly established by the townspeople.

A 1970 graduate of Brown University and a 1977 graduate of Boston University School of Law, he is a member of the technical staff of Artificial Intelligence Corporation in Waltham.

Seeks Three-Year Term On Board

Local resident and vocational educator, John P. Childs, has announced his candidacy for election to the Greater Lawrence Regional Technical High School District.

Childs holds a Master's Degree in occupational education from Fitchburg State College and a B.S. in vocational education from the same college. He is a graduate of Wentworth Institute, where he studied architectural construction, and is a graduate of Methuen High School.

A carpentry instructor and department chairman for the past 12 years at Shawsheen Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School in Billerica, Childs said he is a firm believer in occupational education as a concrete and realistic alternative for students in Andover.

He estimates that 60 percent of high school students require a skill as opposed to a college education, and he emphasizes that career education must be expanded into the comprehensive high school in the area.

Childs was chosen for the Pilot Program for Training Occupational Education Administrators and is a certified Director of Occupational Education in Comprehensive High School. He was appointed by the State Department of Education Commissioner to the Ad Hoc Committee for Occupational Education and serves as chairman, General Advisory Committee, Quinobin Technical High School, Wellesley.

For ten years Childs was a self-employed building contractor and has worked as a mill carpenter, house carpenter and architectural craftsman, and has first-hand knowledge of the business world.

His objective, he said, if elected to the school district, is to assist as many students as possible in exposure to occupational areas and to improve summer and afternoon programs.

Childs is a former director, Adult Occupational Education; past secretary of the Massachusetts Vocational Association;

All The World's A Stage....

No Scare Tactics Please

The school committee is faced with a difficult task of preparing dual budgets in time for voter consideration prior to the annual town election.

One budget, currently getting the most attention, is the $14 million plus figure which is aimed at maintaining most of the existing services provided the townspeople override Prop 2½ with regard to school bonding on the March 22 ballot.

Should the voters decide not to eliminate the Prop 2½ restraint, the school administration and committee must be prepared to offer a budget some $2 million lower.

A little reflection on reaction to the override provision in some parts of the state this week suggests that the schoolmen have their work cut out for them.

It is too early to tell which way the tide is running on the issue locally, but on Monday six communities upheld the Prop 2½ provision, while two others approved of an override as allowed by recent legislation.

Some of these communities are similar to Andover in character, thus it would indicate that while Andover prides itself on being an education-oriented community, it does not necessarily follow that the taxpayers are willing to financially support all of the objectives as set forth by the professional educators.

What is required of the school administration now is to refrain from any scare tactics when presenting the budget alternatives.

We would doubt the school people would do anything less than paint a realistic picture of what the school system will be like based on the town budgets which will be available for perusal prior to March 22.

Already we are aware that there will be some loss of professional personnel in the year ahead, even if the override is approved. If the budget must be cut further, then there will be additional staff cuts necessitated.

There are bound to be cuts in programs, transportation, athletics and other activities under either budget plan.

The ballot question seems destined to produce a good voter turnout for the first time in a number of years for the municipal election.

Indication of that interest was evident a week ago when PTO members got in a bit of controversy regarding support of the override item, some feeling they were not informed of the decisions, other school-oriented organizations refraining from taking any position.

In the short time remaining prior to the March 22 election, we trust the school department will make available all the options available to the town in order that the voters may make a proper judgment as to what they wish to pay for public education in Andover.

It should be a realistic approach, and capable of justification by school authorities so that when the votes are tallied on election day both the public and the school department will be aware of what Andover schools will be like in the coming school year.

It is not an easy task, but one which must be accomplished in a short period of time.

The Public Forum

Don't Involve PTO's

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

What is all this foolishness about the PTOs publicly supporting the over-ride of 2½? Did any of them ask the general membership their views on the subject? Speaking for myself, the PTOs of the two schools my sons attend did not consider my opinion worthwhile. And I don't believe they thought any other parents' views worthwhile.

Years ago, the PTOs lost a lot of charisma and parent support by fanning the flames in the controversy over traditional and modern educational techniques. Their zeal in supporting the School Administration and School Committee resulted in neighbor turning against neighbor and friend against friend. Eventually, harmony was restored in the town of Andover and I was of the belief that the PTOs had learned a very valuable lesson, i.e. stay out of politics.

Will I vote for the over-ride? Certainly the PTOs recent action is not encouraging me to do so since they have alienated me from the word go. Beyond that, however, I need to get the feeling that the School Committee is making a concerted effort to trim the budget, irrespective of the over-ride. Passing items which create new, costly positions (program advisors with secretaries) is to me sheer folly at this time. I don't think we need emotional, parent-attention grabbers, like restricted busing, elimination of athletics, larger class sizes, double sessions, either.

I realize that being a School Committee member is a thankless, as well as non-paying, task, however, I believe you know the ground rules. To my way of thinking, the School Administration should be encouraged to devise as many ways as possible to instill in students a thirst for knowledge, but the School Committee must make the decision whether or not sufficient funds are available to carry them out. Right now, the bank account is almost in the red so to speak, so the School Committee must be even more fiscally prudent. If the School Committee really believes (and they are closer to the situation than I) that non-passage of the 2½ over-ride will decimate Andover's public school system, then please inform me and the town, and do not involve PTOs in what I consider political shenanigans.

Peace.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — March 1907

The planks on the footbridge at North Main street are being torn up and new ones are being relaid by employees of the Boston and Northern street railway company.

Considering the extremely cold weather this winter the attendance in the schools has been good. Severe weather affects the attendance of small children most, but this winter the little people have braved the cold unusually well.

The dog muzzling order which has been in effect for about three weeks, has been repealed by the Selectmen and from today the dogs will be allowed to run free. The Selectmen made this decision yesterday at a meeting after it had been learned that Lawrence had issued the same order, it being thought unnecessary to keep local dogs muzzled if those of a neighboring city were allowed to run free.

The local grocery stores will be closed on next Monday between the hours of twelve and five to allow the clerks to attend the Town meeting.

The plans of the new Free church edifice, designed by McKim, Meade and White of New York were presented to the members of the parish last Monday evening. The plan created a very favorable impression, only two or three people having very serious objections to the style of architecture which is of the old colonial type.

50 Years Ago — March 1932

A number far beyond expectation, 145, have responded to the first call for members by the recently formed Andover Taxpayer's Association, according to John F. O'Connell, president. The association urges everyone who has received a note to join the group so that at town meeting it will be able to voice its opinions as an organized majority.

Nearly 100 homes in Andover are now equipped with the limited telephone service that permits 50 telephone calls to Lawrence and Andover for $3.00 a month, according to figures compiled by Joseph Cassidy, manager of the Lawrence telephone company.

Miss Betty Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cole of Chapman avenue, celebrated her fourth birthday but her sixteenth year on this earth Monday evening, Feb. 29, when she was given a surprise party at the home of her parents by friends. She was born Feb. 29, 1916.

Plenty of steam was let off during the discussion of the town warrant in the annual community meeting sponsored by the American Legion, Post 8, Andover, at its headquarters Wednesday evening, when voters ripped articles in the warrant to pieces, approved practically all the articles asking street improvements, argued, engaged in criticism of officials, personalities and their acts, and altogether made the evening a miniature town meeting, except that when it was all over, the warrant was still to be acted upon at town meeting, March 14.

25 Years Ago — March 1957

Andover's water has been fluoridated since Feb. 20. The Board of Public Works hooked the machinery up and began adding fluorine that day, following normal state approval of the equipment and the way it has been installed. Chairman Allen Flye told the TOWNSMAN Wednesday noon that "We saw no reason why we should publicize it. We're carrying out the instructions of town meeting."

Mrs. Dorothy Volker took fast control of the traffic situation Monday, her first day on the job. She is the first of several policewoman who will handle school crossings to relieve regular officers for other duties. She was posted at the corner of North Main and South Union streets this week.

Slightly over 50 percent of the town's registered voters turned a hearty thumbs down on the town manager Monday — with 2791 saying "no" to 1745 for the plan. In only one precinct — six — did the proposal win a majority. Elsewhere, it was soundly defeated.

The Princess Ileana, youngest daughter of the late King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Roumania, who arrives in Andover tomorrow will be principal speaker at the World Day of Prayer Service at the United Church Women of Andover in Christ Church, Friday night at 8 o'clock.

10 Years Ago — March 1972

Mrs. Elizabeth Nadeau, R.N., 156 High st., director for the Board of Health will retire May 12, it was announced this week by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin. Mrs. Nadeau, who has been employed by the board of health since 1956, will officially retire in July.

JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Italians doubt they've wiped out Red Brigades

By JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON — It's been over a month since General James Dozier was rescued from his Red Brigades captors in Italy. The Italian police did an incredible job tracking down Dozier's kidnappers and springing him unharmed.

Since then, Italian authorities have kept up their momentum against the terrorists. Our sources say that the Italian police believe they've dealt a major blow to the Red Brigades terrorists.

But the Italians aren't fooling themselves. They don't think they've wiped out the Red Brigades threat once and for all.

One reason the Italian authorities are guarded in their optimism is what they've discovered in their crackdown since General Dozier was rescued — huge arsenals of weapons that obviously came from foreign sources.

The Italian police — to say nothing of their Western intelligence colleagues — have suspected for years that the Red Brigades have been getting supplies from outside Italy. The spoils from the recent raids amounted to crystal clear confirmation.

The weapons that have been found are of Soviet and Czechoslovakian origin. But, interestingly, the Italians don't think the Russians or Czechs were directly involved.

The Italian police suspect that the Red Brigades' weapons came from radical Palestinian groups based in Lebanon. Our sources have even named the man they think is responsible: George Habash, the leader of a fanatic group called the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

Italian and American authorities, meanwhile, don't think they've heard the last of the terrorist gang. In fact, our sources warn that what's left of the Red Brigades may try to pull off some spectacular act of terrorism, just to show they are still a force to be reckoned with. It only took half a dozen people to kidnap General Dozier. It takes only one dedicated terrorist to assassinate someone.

DEADLY ELECTION DAY? El Salvador's terrorized citizens are scheduled to go to the polls on March 28. Theoretically, they will vote for a democratic legislature that will write a constitution and lead the war-torn country back to civilian rule and a presidential election.

But secret intelligence reports from the U.S. Embassy in San Salvador warn that leftist guerrillas are planning hit-and-run raids on outlying polling places. What's more, the intelligence reports suggest that the guerrillas are strong enough to make a shambles of the election process.

As a result of these intelligence warnings, cables have gone out to American embassies warning that the United States can't guarantee the safety of foreign officials who may show up in El Salvador to supervise the elections this month. The cables also warn that the Salvadoran government can't guarantee the safety of foreign observers either.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig has lent his voice to the chorus of pessimists who fear for the safety of the foreign observers. A recent cable signed by Haig warns that the Salvadoran government wants to protect the foreign visitors, but can't.

The cable states in part: "It should be pointed out that no participant in (the) Salvadoran political process has any guarantee of safety." In fact, the cable notes, the ruling Salvadoran political party has had more than 40 of its own members killed in the last two years.

The confidential cable adds that Salvadoran President Jose Napoleon Duarte and other members of the junta have "put their lives on the line in support of a reform government pledged to make democracy work."

Haig also states that Salvadoran political leaders now in exile should put their lives on the line too, and return to El Salvador to take part in the election campaign. But the cable warns that exile leaders who do come back would be targets not only for left-wing guerrillas, but for the right-wing extremists as well.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Here's hoping that the Soviet Union's fighter planes and tanks are as miserably manufactured as the simpler things that are peddled to Russian consumers. Their pencils are so bad, for example, that Soviet SALT negotiators used to steal the ones brought along by their American counterparts. A Russian factory turned out 13,000 pairs of sunglasses that were so dark they were practically useless. And the same factory manufactured 3,000 plastic soccer balls that burst like balloons as soon as they were kicked.

John Griffin, a 73-year-old retired railroad worker now living in Florida, recently received a surprise from the White House. He had sent a letter to President Reagan complaining about cuts in his retirement benefits. A week later, he got his reply — a White House envelope containing two cents. A White House spokesman said the smart-aleck culprit hasn't been located.

Federal auditors say that three-fourths of the nation's half-million bridges are over 40 years old and 40 percent of all bridges are unsafe.

Out of a total of ten division championships contested this season, the Andover-North Andover Sharks girls and boys won eight and had two second place finishes. As a result of their records they will compete in Division I next year. They are currently in training for the New England Regional Championships at Brown University in March.

Andover Girls In Skate Show

Four members of the Wilmington Figure Skating Club competed in the New England Inter-Club Competition in West Springfield on Feb. 20. Sanctioned by the United States Figure Skating Association, the competition was hosted by the Springfield Skating Club.

Julie Palmquist of Andover skated her way to a second place silver medal in the pre-preliminary division and Allison Newton, also of Andover, emerged as a bronze medalist taking third place in the preliminary level division.

Lindsey McCracken of Andover and Leanne Babine of Tewksbury also represented Wilmington.

Plans are being finalized and rehearsals will soon begin for the Wilmington Figure Skating Club's 1982 ice show.

Sharks Win Meet With P.A.

The Andover-North Andover YMCA Sharks swim team went up against the Phillips Academy girls and boys junior varsity and came away victorious in both meets as they were led by John and Kara Hannon, a triple winning brother-sister combination.

In the opening event, the medley relay team of Susan Estabrooks, Amy Ford, double winner Stephanie Mitchell and Cathy Smith won, with Laura MacVicar, Dianne Jurgen, Jenny Tolan and Krista Carney placing third. For the boys, double winners Gregg Morava, Brian Colley, Darryl Jones and Scott Bates were second in the medley relay.

Smith doubled in the girls 50 free with Mitchell second and Dianne Jurgen fifth. John Hannon took the first of his three wins in the 50 freestyle with Paradis second. Paul Koch was second in the diving competition.

The girls made a clean sweep of the 100 butterfly with Mitchell first, double winner Katie Inskeep second and Tolan third. For the Sharks boys, Tom Jurgen was second, Ted Crane fourth and Dennis Sullivan fifth. John Hannon got his second victory in the 100 free with Grant VanAken second and Bates fifth.

Matchett lead another one-two-three sweep in the 500 yard freestyle followed by Amy Driscoll and Smith. Morava won for the boys with Tom Jurgen second. In the 100 yard breaststroke, Inskeep headed yet another Sharks sweep with Ford second and Tolan third. Colley was second with Sullivan third.

The Hannon's anchored their respective 400 yard freestyle relays to first place finishes. Kara Hannon swam with Driscoll, Inskeep and Amy VanAken to win. The team of Ford, Dianne Jurgen, Estabrooks and Matchett was second. John Hannon joined Tom Jurgen, Grant VanAken and Paradis for first place.

When the final scores were tallied, the Sharks girls had won 108-58 and the boys had defeated Phillips 89-76.

Summer Trips Are Planned

Take a trip through the Southern Appalachians and the Atlantic Coastal Plain or explore the northern New England wilderness or discover New England's only national park and the rocky Maine coast. These three trips are available to Andover Junior High students this summer.

From July 8-25 ten participants will travel through the southeastern U.S. and experience the Great Smoky Mountains, Shenandoah Valley, Blue Ridge Mountains, Cape Hatteras and much more.

From July 28-Aug. 6 there will be a trip to explore the New England wilderness. Baxter State Park is nestled in the midst of Maine's north woods. These nearly three million acres abound with birds, fish and other wildlife.

From Aug. 12-21 Acadia National Park will feature hiking, swimming, fishing, nature walks, orienteering and many other outdoor activities in a national park setting. Also, discover the Maine coast where the mountains meet the sea.

Last year's Acadia Park and Great Western Adventure were a great success. This year a third trip has been added. A slide presentation and discussion regarding these trips will be held on Thursday, March 25, at West Jr.

'Pegasus'

Bradford College has announced a creative arts summer program titled "Pegasus" for area children who will be entering the fifth through eighth grades.

The camp will be held on the college campus weekday mornings from 9 a.m. to 12 noon from July 12-30, and is intended to expose children to a hands-on experience with paper mache, puzzles, pinhole cameras, pottery, scavenger sculpture, printmaking, music and improvisational drama. The faculty, professional artist-teachers drawn from the Greater Boston area, will supervise and encourage artwork and play, in a program designed to give the middle school children of the Merrimack Valley and surrounding areas an exposure to the intensity of creative experience.

For further information and an application form, contact the Public Relations Office at Bradford College.

Temple Emanuel Nears Title

By Rick Harrison

Temple Emanuel moved a step closer to its first-ever Blue Division championship in the Intermediate Division of the Andover Church Basketball League, remaining undefeated with its seventh straight victory last week, but St. Robert's D (7-1) and Christ Church A (6-1) stayed right on the leaders' heels by posting wins as well.

Temple upended Ballardvale United B 31-17, while St. Robert's D outlasted Ballardvale United A 36-27 and Christ A slipped past St. Augustine's D 24-18.

In other Blue Division action at the West Junior High gym, Christ Church B ripped South A 27-6, St. Robert's E nudged St. Robert's F 19-14 and South B stopped St. Augustine's C 26-19.

Christ Church B, 27-6

Christ B established a 12-6 halftime lead, then put the game away by scoring 15 second half points while holding South A scoreless.

John Russell sparked the C-C attack with 12 points, Steffan Tomlinson netted 7, Bob Ashworth 4 and fourth quarter buckets were delivered by Tad Lee and Eric Williams.

Tossing through single baskets for South A were Alex Egmont, Bob Schmidt and Dave Wade.

St. Robert's E, 19-14

Josh Malitsky tossed through six points in the final period as St. Robert's E, which had trailed the entire game, rallied to subdue intra-church rival St. Robert's F 19-14.

The winners fell behind 5-0 in the first quarter and trailed 9-6 at halftime and 11-10 after three periods.

Malitsky's heroics paced a decisive 9-3 E-team spurt in the fourth stanza.

Josh finished as game-high sharpshooter with 10 points, Jim Spinelli bucketed 4, and solo baskets were contributed by Brendan McGrail and Bradd Reghitto.

Paul DeMareo completed the offense with a fourth quarter free throw, and staunch defensive performances were produced by Mike Smith, Mike Faraci and Jerome Guerard.

Greg DeVoir flipped in 9 points for St. Robert's F, while John Mattola added 2, Tim Melia 2 and Steve DeVir a fourth period charity toss.

South B, 26-19

This game was decided in the third quarter when Chris Eggert and Jim Hendry keyed a 15-2 South B surge that broke open a tight contest against St. Augustine's C.

St. Augustine's inched ahead 5-4 in the opening period and rallied with an 8-2 spread in the final stanza, but it wasn't enough to overcome the pivotal third quarter.

Eggert emerged as game-high scorer with 14 points, 11 of them in the third session, while Hendry pocketed four of his six points in the same period.

Chris Caltigirone pumped through 7 points for St. Augustine's C, Pat Hayes and Kevin Foley notched 4 points each, Pete Kannam 2 and Sean Gill 2.

Neil Fater and Dave carrier also played well for St. Augustine's C.

St. Robert's D, 36-27

St. Robert's D remained in title contention with its Wild West shootout triumph over Ballardvale United A, taking a 9-7 first period lead and pulling away slowly.

The winners, who sport the division's most potent offense, increased the advantage to 18-15 at halftime and 28-22 after three.

Tom Sheehan paced a balanced attack with 11 points, Yvonne Guzley netted 7 points, Tracy Danner 6, Bruce Taylor 6 and Eric Green 4.

Matt Jarek banged home one fieldgoal for the victors and Billy Martin turned in a hustling effort.

BU received its points from three players as Dave Rehe popped through a game-high 13, Mike Hardock notched 8 and Andy Meckel 6.

Glen McLeod, Kim Lowe and Steve Smith also played well.

Temple Emanuel, 31-17

Six different players contributed points in the decisive third quarter as the undefeated division leader used a 16-8 run as the springboard to its triumph over Ballardvale United B.

Geoff Bolan finished the contest as high scorer with 11 points, while Bob Labell and Mickey Shallop dunked 6 points apiece, Mike Englehart 4, Mark Hewitt 2 and Mark Leinson 2.

Mickey Connors powered the Ballardvale answering fire with 7 points, Devon Arsenault swished 6, Alan Hanley 2 and Mike Troy a couple.

Christ Church A, 24-18

Christ A had its hands full with St. Augustine's D for three quarters, trailing 16-14 entering the final stanza before escaping on a 10-2 run to pull out the decision.

Bart Kalkstein and Dave Lewis led Christ A (6-1) in that fourth period with four points apiece, while for the game Kalkstein dumped in 8 points and Lewis 6.

John Knowles and Bob Beanland were next in line with four points each, Adam Smith contributed one basket, and other excellent floor games were added by Bob Wood and Matt Corbett.

Paul Dubanowitz secured game-high scoring honors for St. Augustine's D with 10 points, Scott Lanouette swished six and Andy Peck delivered one fieldgoal.

Moriarty Elects Huskies

Brian Moriarty, a 6'1", 190 pound quarterback for Andover High School, has made a commitment to attend Northeastern University in Boston on a football scholarship.

Moriarty, a keen operator on the grid, is a first-team All-Merrimack Valley selection and an exceptional offensive weapon who amassed more than 1200 yards passing and 480 yards rushing.

"Brian is an excellent athlete with outstanding spring-out and option skills," said Head Coach Paul Pawlak who begins his second-year as head man for the Huskies. "He should fit into our Pro I attack very well."

Moriarty captained the Andover High gridders as a senior and is a baseball letter winner in the spring.

Northeastern, which competes as a New England Independent against Division I-AA powers New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, opens its 1982 schedule against the University of Connecticut at Storrs.

What is probably the world's oldest educational institution is the University of Karueen, founded in Morocco in the year 859.

Volleyball Tourney Scheduled

The annual town-wide Volleyball Tournament is scheduled for April 5, 6 and 7. Registration forms are available at the high school, Sport Shop, Hockey Shop and the DCS office. The tournament is open to all teams, high school age or older, coed or men, with a minimum of eight players. Participants must either live or work in Andover. This program has been very popular in the past. Last year 13 teams competed in the double elimination tournament. Last year's champions in the coed division were the Samurrai Schoolteachers

PeeWee B Danvers League Andover 2 - Marblehead 1

After a long string of losing one goal games, or having to settle for ties in the late going, the PeeWee B team turned things around at Danvers, defeating the second-place Marblehead squad in a cliffhanger. In the final minute of the game, they not only held off a Marblehead six-skater desperation attempt to tie the score, but they almost scored on the empty net in the closing seconds.

Andover struck first midway in the first period with a fine pass off the boards and out of the defensive zone by defenseman Hugh Maginnis to a breaking Costello who carried the puck all the way down the right side to beat his man as he swung the corner and charged straight at the post. There he gave a little centering pass to Rob Stoltz who slid the puck under the goalie.

In the second period Doug Bleszinski made a real heads-up play to turn what started out as a routine-looking Marblehead clearing play into the game winning goal. As the Marblehead defenseman skated the puck out toward his blue line, Bleszinski distracted him just enough to lose a little control on the puck. He then tapped it behind the defenseman, carried it over the circle, and just as he was almost ridden off by the other defenseman, put a hard wrist shot into the opposite corner.

About a minute later Marblehead came back with good pressure in front of the net and capitalized on Andover's not clearing the puck, pulling within one goal. That was the end of the scoring, but there was plenty of excitement right down to the final buzzer. Both teams had great scoring threats and close calls, but neither could capitalize and all the breaks worked against putting the puck in the net. For Andover, Ian Anderson and Tim Adams played well in goal, and each had several fine saves.

Maginnis, after having played at center most of the year, moved to defense and did a fine job, slowing down a lot of Marblehead's hard skating offense. Mike Nelligan swapped from defense to center position and he and his new linemates, Jeff Leonard and Andy Weiner, got used to each other quickly to get several good scoring chances. Lou LoPresti and Chris Boyle looked very strong in the forechecking game and kept Marblehead bottled up along the boards time and again.

The defensive units were hard pressed to contain Marblehead, but they were up to the challenge. Dan Hegarty, John Leng, Peter Donegan and Chris McAnally all did excellent work at both ends of the ice, and first rate team effort paid off with a well deserved win against a strong opponent.

Non-league Scrimmage Andover 4 - Dracut 3

The PeeWee Bs pulled out another tight game early Sunday morning against a good Dracut squad that plays in a higher division than they do. It took highly disciplined play, excellent passing and solid goaltending, and Andover had all three right down to the last whistle.

Dracut got the first goal with some fine work in front of the net and was threatening to move out to a bigger lead, but Andover's defense tightened up and played strong stand-up hockey at the blue lines and contained almost everything that came to them. Dan Hegarty was especially solid in containing play in the offensive zone. Peter Donegan and Hugh Maginnis repeatedly picked off errant passes in center ice and turned them into exciting offensive rushes. Chris McAnally seemed to be constantly breaking up Dracut rushes in the center zone and throwing the puck back into the corner for the wings to start putting pressure on the net again. Right after the first Dracut goal, goalie Tim Adams made a series of fantastic saves.

Maginnis got Andover started; stopping a clearing attempt and walking in from the point to whistle a wrist shot by the Dracut goalie.

Dracut tried to get started again, but Donegan did some great individual defensive work right in front of the Andover net, kept Dracut from getting control and finally cleared the puck behind the goal while sitting on the ice.

John Leng continues to look strong at his new wing position. He got the second goal, making a great rush down the side. When his centering pass was blocked in front, his linemates Rob Stoltz and Brian Costello kept it loose, while Leng swung all the way around the net and then stuffed it under the goalie.

With Maginnis moved to defenseman, his old linemates Andy Weiner and Jeff Leonard have in only three games got used to Mike Nelligan moving in to play center, and they had some excellent chances on net shift with Hegarty and Donegan controlling the points. Maginnis gave them a hand on the third goal, breaking down the side and getting off a centering pass which deflected to Nelligan high in the slot. Mike made two quick shifts and found himself alone 10 feet in front of the goalie and put a low shot into the corner.

The Ian Anderson, playing goal for the second half of the game, preserved the lead with a miraculous stop on a quick one-on-one that developed right in front of the net.

Doug Bleszinski and Chris Boyle did some very effective forechecking and with center Danny Landoli, kept Dracut from getting started and had some good chances of their own.

In the third period Dracut pulled within one again, but almost immediately Leonard and Nelligan worked hard to get a puck loose behind the Dracut net, and Nelligan swung around the post and fed a perfect pass to Weiner who had set up in close. Without hesitating Andy slapped the puck through what looked like two inches between the goalie's pad and the post.

Dracut pulled their goalie with a minute and a half to play, and at 29 seconds, scored to pull within one again. But, as they did earlier in the week, Andover didn't panic and kept Dracut from getting another shot on net for the rest of the game.

Danvers League Mites

Charlestown 4 - Andover 7

Another important game against another leading contender and another impressive victory for Andover in another exciting game last week in Danvers.

Andover got things going with two well taken early goals by Kevin Smith, the first following an excellent lead pass from Sean Darwin and the second assisted by Johnathan Shine. Then Charlestown tied things up at 2-2 before Brian Lane, from Peter Arthur, then Chris Pothier, from Darwin, restored the Andover lead. By the end of the second period, though, it was tied up once more 4-4.

Heads-up passing play from Arthur to John Mellilo to scorer Stephen Neal restored Andover's lead and further goals followed from Darwin, with Chris Pothier assisting, and Lane. Meanwhile Mike DiStefano forechecked effectively, and heroics in defense from goalie Jay Stella, Kevin Lane, Joey Ligouri and especially Ryan Moynihan, who seemed to be everywhere, kept Charlestown from further scoring.

So it was that Lou Stella, Richie Roycroft and Bob "Mr. Motivation" Smith could celebrate once more.

PeeWee B Wilmington League Andover 1 - Billerica 4

It looked as if Andover had a chance to take this one. They had played Billerica even for two periods, and the score was tied at one apiece. And even when Billerica pulled ahead early in the third period. Andover kept up fine pressure and was still threatening. But, just as Andover was getting ready to pull the goalie for a sixth

West Parish A Is Tested

By Rick Harrison

Upset-minded St. Augustine B, playing inspired basketball, gave undefeated division leader West Parish A all it could handle before the two-time defending champs pulled out a come-from-behind 28-24 triumph to highlight Andover Church Basketball League Intermediate Gold Division action last week at the West Elementary School gym.

While the first place team was struggling, St. Robert's A (7-1) experienced no trouble whatsoever enroute to an impressive 53-15 romp over St. Robert's C.

The final game of the evening was the most exciting, as Steve Colitz sparked St. Robert's B to a 27-25 overtime triumph over St. Augustine A.

John Perry has taken over the Gold Division scoring lead with 97 points, and following the St. Robert's A guard in order are Chris Colsia with 91, Kurt Burzlaff 82, Gary Marotta 78, Jeff Smith 71, Chris Poor 68, Paul Davies 64, Cliff Marotta 64 and Tim Boudreau 58.

St. Robert's B, 27-25 (ot)

Steve Colitz tied the game with one second left in regulation, then scored the first three points of the overtime period to boost St. Robert's B to its tough 27-25 decision over St. Augustine A.

St. Augustine A led 7-4, 13-9 and 15-11 at the first three quarter breaks, but St. Robert's B battled back to tie it 21-21 in the final stanza behind singles buckets from John Slavin, Sean Melia, Dave Dilling, Joe Massaro and Colitz.

Paul Davies swished a 10-footer from the left side to give St. Augustine a 23-21 lead with 0:17 to play, but Colitz forced OT by banking one in from underneath at 0:01.

Colitz opened the overtime scoring with a driving lay-up, then converted a free throw to make it 26-23.

Mark Russell and the winners' Rajiv Sheel traded foul shots for a 27-24 count, and Davies wrapped up the contest with another free throw in the closing seconds.

Colitz led six St. Robert's B players with 7 points, while John Slavin contributed 6, Dave Dilling 5, Sean Melia and Joe Massaro 4 each and Sheel a free throw.

Mike French and Scott Plamondon also played well for the victors.

Paul Davies finished as game-high scorer with 16 points, Mark Russell pocketed 5, and single baskets were flipped in by Drew Dunn and Brian Brussard of St. Augustine A.

Todd McAllister and Brandon McCue were other St. Augustine standouts.

West parish A, 28-24

The fired-up St. Augustine B crew came close to pulling off a major upset, but West Parish A overcame an eight-point third quarter deficit and finally pulled away in the last 90 seconds.

West A (8-0) grabbed a quick 7-1 lead midway through the first period, but St. Augustine B battled back and cut the deficit to 9-7 after one quarter.

Chris Colsia and Scott Wallace did the second period scoring for St. Augustine B, as it held West A to a single bucket (by Chris Poor) and took a 13-11 halftime advantage.

Colsia added seven more points in the third session, as St. Augustine B hiked its lead to 21-13 midway through the period.

At this time West A switched defenses, from a zone to a man-to-man, and the move paid off as the division leaders outpointed St. Augustine B 15-3 the rest of the way.

Kurt Burzlaff and Tim Boudreau led a 5-0 West A spurt late in the third quarter to make it 21-18.

Bill O'Brien opened the fourth period scoring for West A, and later baskets by Burzlaff, Poor, Mike Lane and Boudreau carried the defending champs to the victory.

The score was deadlocked 24-24 with 1:30 to play, but West A pocketed the final two fieldgoals.

West parish A held a sizable 13-8 advantage in fieldgoals, but St. Augustine B stayed close by hitting 8-of-19 free throws while the winners managed just 2-of-9.

Tim Boudreau and Chris Poor paced the West A attack with 8 points apiece, Kurt Burzlaff added 7, Mike Lane 3 and Bill O'Brien 2.

Burzlaff once again was invaluable off the boards, and he also blocked several shots including one key rejection late in the game when it was tied 24-24.

Kurt Nickerson, Mark Berberian and Stefan Kelly were other West A stalwarts.

Chris Colsia netted a game-high 15 points for St.

Augustine B, and he added a strong all-around effort with a number of timely rebounds.

Scott Wallace chipped in 5 points, Kevin Henderson 3 and Bartley Parker a free throw.

Chris Patten, Mark Peters and Matt Dufresne contributed solid defensive efforts.

This marked the third game that West A has pulled out by margins of four points or less.

St. Robert's A, 53-15

High-powered St. Robert's A struck early and often, surpassing the 50-point mark for the second time this season as it peppered St. Robert's C 53-15.

The division's highest scoring team bolted to a 17-4 first quarter lead, stretched it to 30-6 by halftime, and led 44-9 after three periods.

Eight different players contributed to the offense, with John Perry pumping through 15 points, Gerry Nassif 9 and Larry Middleton 8.

Jeff Smith and Chris Sapuppo swished 6 points each, Chris Concerni 4, Steve Veilleux 3 and Mosa Kaleel 2.

For St. Robert's C (4-4), once again playing with-skater, with a minute and a half left, Billerica came up with a very important goal and followed it with a clincher a little later.

Early in the first period Andover did a fine job of killing off a penalty with Lou LoPresti and Rob Stoltz up front and Chris McAnally and Brian Costello at the points. And this seemed to set the tone for continuing steady play.

Billerica got on the board first with a good shot from the point when the forward line didn't rush the shooter fast enough. But Andover tied it up less than a minute later with some good passing and stick handling. Mike Nelligan got a pass from behind his own net up to LoPresti who dug it loose from two defenders along the boards and got it to Stoltz, breaking across the blue line. Stoltz fed Costello breaking in who carried down over the right circle and cut across in front of the net, stick handled through two defensemen and lifted a nice backhand shot behind the goalie who had started to move across with the play.

The second period was even and scoreless with both teams getting good chances, but good goaltending by Ian Anderson and Tim Adams kept things under control for Andover. Hugh Maginnis, with wings Andy Weiner and Jeff Leonard and defensemen Chris McAnally and John Leng, had an excellent power play, but were denied by equally good netminding at the Billerica end. Doug Bleszinski had a couple of good rushes also. Chris Boyle and Danny Landoli played a solid game and created a number of good chances.

After the second Billerica goal, Andover had some real heroics on both offense and defense. Stoltz was robbed a couple of times on good chances, and Peter Donegan combined with Nelligan a couple of times to stop developing breakaways which Andover's offensive pressure allowed to happen.

PeeWee Win Streak Ends

Andover 2 - Tewksbury 2

The Andover PeeWee A team returned to action after a three-day lay-off. Tewksbury had been beaten by Andover with one second left in the last game and was really up for a chance to redeem themselves. Andover remained steadfast and disciplined, making another come-from-behind effort to avoid defeat.

Solid two-way hockey by both teams kept the contest extremely close with Tewksbury scoring the first goal at 5:01 in the first period. Matt Young, Kyle McCabe and Jamie O'Brien were impressive as they continually bombarded the outstanding Tewksbury goalie with hard shots. Pat Breen effectively outskated the defense several times, putting them out of play.

Andover maintained the edge in territorial play during the second period and scored the equalizer when Pete Trede started a play by passing up ice to Steve Donovan. Donovan sent the puck to Glenn Allard who carried the puck across the front of the net and with finesse, backhanded it by the goalie. Tewksbury was not to be denied though and scored before the end of the period making the score 2-1.

Third period action saw several penalties. Tom Tormey and Mark Neaves worked hard and stick handled the puck into the zone setting up the offense often. Chris Hansberry made some needed key saves keeping his team in the game. Joe Lyons and Dave Riddiford applied steady offensive pressure in the Tewksbury end.

Mark Berberian made the connection unassisted when he used the goalie as a deflector and scored to tie the very exciting game.

Andover 1 - Revere 3

The statement which says that all good things must come to an end can be applied to the fortunes of Andover's PeeWee A hockey team Sunday at Danvers. After remaining undefeated for 17 games, they succumbed to Revere. The local boys were surprised to find themselves down early in the first period when Revere scored on a breakaway. Penalties were the real opponent of Andover as they played shorthanded much of the game.

Andover's only score came during a pile-up in front of the Revere net with Steve Donovan getting the scoring credit. Glenn Allard and Pat Breen entered the zone with a passing play to the offense. Jamie O'Brien got the puck out in front of the net and Donovan managed to put it in. Revere remained determined to stop Andover. For the first time since January 5, Andover's young men felt the agony of defeat.

Celtics, Sixers Remain Tied

By Rick Harrison

The Celtics and Sixers remained tied for first place in the Senior Division of the Andover Youth Basketball League last week as the Cs snapped a two-game losing streak by belting the Kings 77-28, and the Sixers held off the pesky Pistons 53-46.

The co-leaders now stand at 5-2, while the Pistons fell two games off the pace at 3-4.

Sixers, 53-46

This game was decided in the third period when the Sixers broke a 22-22 halftime deadlock with a 15-6 run sparked by Joe Hart and Gene Sullivan with six points apiece.

The winners managed to hold the Pistons at bay in the fourth quarter, despite the fact Pat Plaehn pumped through 11 points and Brian Sheehy added six for the third place team.

Hart, scoring in every period, finished as game-high with 26 points.

Gene Sullivan offered substantial support with 13 points, while Bill Earnshaw and Nick Lembo sumped in five points apiece.

Jim Fearing completed the Sixers' offense with four points and top-notch performances were also turned in by Jim Sullivan, Bob Manning and Mark Carroll.

Plaehn powered the Pistons with 23 points, 17 of them in the second half, while Sheehy also reached double figures with 16 points.

Rich Napolitano tossed through five points and Jon Yezerksi added two.

Celtics, 77-28

The Celtics halted their tailspin, keeping pace with the resounding triumph over the Kings.

The winners assumed a 12-4 first quarter lead, stretched it to 28-10 at halftime, and proceeded to outscore the Kings 49-18 after intermission to win going away.

Three Celts' players finished the game in double figures as Dean Orfanedes pumped in 26 points, Jeff Poor 21 and Rich Bourdelais 10.

Dave Cox produced all nine of his points in the second half, Kevin Walsh stuffed eight points and Mike Burke flipped through three foul shots.

Chris Vallee also played well for the Celts, who were forced to compete without two other high scorers (Doug Rotondi and Darren Currier).

Pete Zompa was the big man for the Kings with 11 points, Sean Trombly hooped 6 points and Phil Stocking 6.

Tom Hollenbeck and Andy Zompa collected single baskets for the Kings, while Paul Valcourt converted a free throw.

Real Estate

By DOUGLAS N. HOWE

REALTOR

WOMEN IN REAL ESTATE

Involvement of women in the real estate profession has grown rapidly in recent years and is expected to increase in the years ahead. Real Estate is one field where women always have received equal pay for equal work. They are limited only by the amount of time they spend and their effectiveness with prospects just the same as their male counterparts.

Many women have an uncanny aptitude for residential real estate. They know what other women appreciate in a home and they know how to present these aspects.

The opportunities for women in real estate are, perhaps as good or better than in any other field. Those with the ability to learn their craft can reach the top. Many women own and manage their own real estate firms — some of which are multi-office operations in large metropolitan areas. Membership in the Women's Council of Realtors has grown seven times over in recent years to more than 13,000 members.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pynchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Raytheon Awarded Contract

Raytheon Co. has landed a three-year, $605 million contract to build improvements to Saudi Arabia's missile air defense system, and most of the work on the new system will be done in Raytheon's West Andover plant, company officials announced this week.

There are more than 5,400 employees currently working at the Lexington-based company's Andover facility. The new defense systems will be built in addition to two other systems recently put into production in Andover, the Hawk and the Patriot systems.

Raytheon spokesman Michael Carney of the company's government systems division said the Saudi contract will not create new jobs, but will make more work for existing employees, extending the length of their employment.

The new contract calls for designing improvements to the ground support system for the Saudis' existing Hawk surface-to-air missile system, along with new training and maintenance procedures.

The system revisions will make the Saudis' already sophisticated system the equal of the one used in this country, according to Carney.

Raytheon has had contracts with Saudi Arabia for more than 16 years, supplying the country with surface-to-air missile systems.
